SOUND SENSE.

President Cleveland's Way of Looking at the Appointing Power.

A Herald's Washington special says: "I do not think any Administration for many years has been so closely and jealously watched by the people as this one," President Cleveland said to your correspondent, "and I am glad of it. If any of us were tempted by the pressure or by our own weakness to go wrong, I believe we should not dare to do it, for it seems to me the eyes of the whole people are fixed upon us. Every smallest public act of mine or of the Cabinet is talked of and discussed. If we make mistakes, as cannot be helped, we hear of them at once, and I say for myself that this kind of close watch is a help to my endeavors to do my duty. It shows that the public are alive. They want good government. They are not inattentive, and if sometimes wrong judgments come out against us, we must bear them and try to do the best we know how." The President's point of view of office-seeking and holding often surprises office-seekers. He was urged to make a "clean sweep" in one of the Western States on the ground that, "If you will do this for us we will make the State Democratic next year." "Probably you could," was the reply, "but what would be the use? By precisely the same method the Republicans, when their time comes, would make it Republican again. That is no way to keep the party in power or to make it strong." Again he was urged strongly to remove a Republican in another Western State and to appoint a man recommended to him by several Congressmen. "You cannot say that you are not satisfied of the honesty and capacity and high character of the gentleman we are urging, Mr. President," said they. "I do not doubt that," he replied, "but you have not given me any reason for removing the man who holds the place. He is an uncommonly able and a thoroughly honest man in that place. What excuse have I for turning him out?" "Some of our people don't see," he said, the other day, "that when a Republican is left in office his hands are tied so far as usefulness to his party goes. If I should remove officers without regard to their conduct, I should let free a large army of active and effective political workers to labor in every campaign against our party, and every faithful and honest man I had turned out would have the public sympathy with him."

Presidential Postmasters.

Following is the reason of the appointment book containing a list of Postmasters appointed at Presidential offices since the adjournment of the Senate: The suspensions in these cases were, with two exceptions, made for partisans; two were made upon reports of inspectors showing bad management of their offices by the incumbents. The President has not considered all the cases of Presidential Postmasters which have been made ready and presented to his attention. He has made 467 appointments, of which 274 were to vacancies caused by expiration of terms or resignation, and 193 in place of suspended officers. Every case of suspension has been carefully considered upon evidence, in pursuance of some principle and by which he was guided in the beginning. A large number solicited for removal have been refused, including some at his last consideration of the cases Thursday, because proofs were not such, in his judgment, as to warrant action. Arrangements have been made so that commissions will be issued notwithstanding the President's absence when bonds are filed and approved.

Governor Adams has come in for a fresh amount of press censure on account of his failure or neglect to issue a proclamation relative to the death of General Grant. The omission is conspicuous because nearly every State in the Union took official cognizance of the fact.

THE BALANCE OF POWER.

(Silver State.)

The assertion of T. B. Rickey, who is willing to be a candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket that "the cattle-men of the State control several thousand votes, and hold the balance of power," has caused some comment, and subjected the Carson Valley bullock brander to more or less ridicule. While the cattle interest of the State is of great, and steadily increasing importance, there is not yet the remotest probability that cattle-men will vote as a unit for any candidate for Governor, or that any number of them would support Mr. Rickey because he has the reputation of knowing how to use a lasso, against a farmer, a merchant, a miner or a mechanic, with whose political views they are in accord. There is no occasion for men engaged in any particular business in Nevada arraying themselves for or against any particular candidate because of his occupation. Men well qualified for the Governorship can be found in the State who do not own a steer, as well as among those whose herds number thousands, and cattle-men do not hold the balance of power any more than farmers or miners. A man's occupation, provided it be reputable should be a secondary consideration in the selection of a Governor, and the assertion that any industry controls several thousand votes is too suggestive of bulldozing to be countenanced in Nevada, where every qualified elector can vote as he pleases, or as is too often the case at our elections, dispose of his vote to the highest bidder for cash.

Secretary Manning Objects.

Mr. Hedden, the newly appointed Collector of the Port of New York, met with a little surprise the other day, which illustrates the uncertainty of political friendships. Mr. Hedden had a brother-in-law named Knapp holding a clerkship in the Auditor's office of the Custom House, at a salary of $1,600 a year. Mr. Hedden made Mr. Knapp his private secretary at a salary of $3,000 per annum. Later, having an eye to the advancement of his relatives, the Collector named Mr. Knapp for Assistant Auditor, at a salary of $3,500 a year to succeed Mr. Belcher. Mr. Knapp's place as private secretary was filled by the appointment of a Mr. Parker. Mr. Hedden's recommendation of Mr. Knapp to Secretary Manning as Assistant Auditor was returned to Mr. Hedden unapproved. This leaves Mr. Knapp without an office—a very awkward situation considering the rapidity with which he was ascending the ladder of promotion. The rebuff to Mr. Hedden will probably not cause him to resign the Collectorship. He will doubtless feel it none the less keenly, however.

Internal Revenue.

Joseph S. Miller, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has made a preliminary report on the general condition of the Internal Revenue Service. The report says: Total collection for the fiscal year, amounting to $112,420,111, have been properly accounted for and the money covered into the Treasury of the United States. The cost to collect internal revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885, was about $4,480,000 being 39 per cent of the amount collected, and $600,000 less than the cost for the year 1884. The Commissioners estimate the total receipts from all resources of internal revenue for the next fiscal year will be about $115,000,000.

The statement regarding immigration into the United States during the last fiscal year, just issued from the Bureau of Statistics, shows that the tide is ebbing more and more rapidly from the high-water mark of 1882. The arrivals at the ten principal customs districts (which receive more than 98 per cent of the arrivals at all points), from July 1, 1884, to June 30, 1885, aggregate 387,821, which indicates a total of about 398,500 when the full returns are compiled. During the fiscal year of 1884 the total was 518,592, which fell nearly 85,000 short of the 603,322 recorded in 1883, and this in turn was more than 185,000 below the unprecedented figures for 1882, when no less than 788,992 immigrants arrived in the United States.

Gen. McClellan, it is understood, aspires to the United States Senatorship from New Jersey, should the Democrats secure the next Legislature. He has the support of many of the most experienced party workers.

ANTELOPE VALLEY.

A Visitor from Hon. Thomas B. Rickey's Home Give a Glowing Description of the Place—Extensive Operations.

Carson Tribune.

"I'd rather own Kirman & Rickey's ranch in Antelope Valley, stocked as it is," said a gentleman to a Tribune representative this morning, "than to be President of the United States."

This appeared like big talk, but the man was in earnest, for he had just come from Antelope Valley, where he had met that modern Cincinnatus, Hon. T. B. Rickey, and had been entertained with an inspection of the extensive possessions of that wealthy cattle king.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Rickey is prominently mentioned as the most available Republican candidate for Governor of Nevada, he insists that he does not ask for the nomination. Thus, it appears that the good old rule that the office shall seek the man and not the man the office has not entirely gone out of vogue. This is indeed an encouraging sign.

The ranch at which Mr. Rickey's family make their home during the Summer season has out 100 miles of fence inclosing the meadow and grain lands alone. During the visit of the gentleman interviewed he saw ten mowing machines following each other, and three gangs of stackers piling up the hay with bull-rakes. All the work is done by machinery, and under Mr. Rickey's efficient management everything moves along in good order. Over 100 stacks of hay, each containing 120 tons, were counted, and 100 more will be added before the harvest is over. The hay-field alone employs 85 men. The pasture and grazing lands take in about all that is left of Antelope Valley, and the horses and cattle running at large are innumerable. In every direction the ranges seem literally alive. The ranch proper is fourteen miles long. In addition to the fine residence, the carriage house, the extensive stables filled with fine horses, and the many other buildings and structures required in constructing so large an establishment, there is an immense stone dairy, where the milk and cream of 300 cows are turned into cheese and butter.

While the visitor was at the ranch a poor widow living near at hand came to Mr. Rickey and asked for the loan of a cow for a season, saying that it would be of great benefit to her. With his characteristic generosity, Mr. Rickey immediately sent for his herd-master and directed him to drive two of the best cows in the band to the poor woman's house.

The family of Mr. Rickey spend the season at the Antelope Valley home as if they were at some Summer resort. They have horses and carriages at their disposal at all times, with plenty of servants both indoors and outside to care for all their wants, and to provide amusements. The name of the Post-office is Topaz, and certainly anyone who goes that way would hate to pass such a place without stopping and enjoying the hospitality of its free-hearted proprietor.

The store at Topaz, belonging to the firm of Kirman & Rickey, is one of the largest in the State. Adjoining are the machine and blacksmith shops. There are granaries, storehouses and such buildings in all directions, and running water in all parts of the ranch. On the premises there is also a fine church with a cozy parsonage for the accommodation of the resident preacher.

In addition to this big ranch Kirman & Rickey also own a place at Bridgeport and another in Owen's River Valley. Their ranges are the most extensive on the Pacific Coast, and the horses and cattle they ship are the best in the market.

BURIAL PLACES OF THE PRESIDENTS.

The Brooklyn Union says: Although Washington, the Capital of the Nation, is naturally the place one would first choose as most appropriate for the sepulcher of our Presidents, it is surprising that only General Taylor was buried there. In the following list will be found the place of sepulture of all the Presidents: Washington, Mt. Vernon, Va.; John Adams, Quincy, Mass.; Jefferson, Monticello, Va.; Madison, Montpelier, Va.; Monroe, Richmond, Va.; J. Q. Adams, Quincy, Mass.; Jackson, the Hermitage, Tenn.; Van Buren, Kinderhook, N. Y.; Harrison, North Bend, Ind.; Tyler, Richmond, Va.; Polk, Nashville, Tenn.; Taylor, Washington, D. C.; Fillmore, Buffalo, N. Y.; Pierce, Concord, N. H.; Buchanan, Lancaster, Pa.; Lincoln, Springfield, Ill.; Johnson, Greenville, Tenn.; Garfield, Cleveland, Ohio; Grant, New York, N. Y.

Applications aggregating 20,225 70-100 acres which were filed during July are as follows: In Eureka District U. S. Land Office 16,493 93-00 acres; and in Carson City District 3,731 77-100 acres.

The Grant memorial address delivered by Bishop Fowler, at San Francisco, surpasses any delivered by any other speaker in the United States.

Marshal, the discoverer of gold in California, died at Placerville Monday.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

A Railroad Necessary to Develop Her Vast Resources.

The Sentinel says:

The resources of Lincoln county are great, but until a railroad assists in the development of the same by coming to the relief of those already there who have no market for what they produce the dormant situation will remain unchanged. Lincoln is not only one of the richest counties in the State in minerals, but it abounds in agricultural lands not excelled on the Coast. The soil of its valleys is loamy and fertile, the climate mild, and water in places is bountiful. The mines of the country require no puffing. They are too well and favorably known by practical mining men of the Coast for that. What the country needs is a railroad to connect it with the outside world, to transport ore over, to convey out other products and to take in supplies.

As an instance of the hardship the miners of the county labor under today, we quote the following from the Pioche Record of last Saturday: "At Mineral Park, Arizona, a fair profit can be made on silver ore containing 18 ounces in silver and from 35 to 40 per cent lead. The ore is shipped to the reduction works in Colorado. Eighty-ounce silver ore is not worth a continental for shipment in Pioche. There is nothing so beneficial to an isolated mining country as to have a railroad running through it."

We predict that just as soon as the stagnation, now prevailing all over the country, passes away, and railroad building and mining for precious metals receive the impetus which will surely follow, Lincoln county will receive the attention from capitalists which her resources merit. As matters are now it is hard to enlist capital in any enterprise no matter how worthy and promising it may be.

Profit in Barley.

The San Francisco Chronicle remarks:

While it is generally conceded that the farmer who grows wheat year after year, especially at such prices as have recently prevailed, is indulging in a losing speculation, one branch of cereal cultivation seems to be greatly overlooked. Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties have never been considered as well adapted for grain growing as some of the northern counties where the annual rainfall is heavier. Nevertheless, even in this present exceptionally dry year, the farmers of that portion of the State have realized a "good thing" from their crops of barley. The new crop is even now selling at $1 20 per cental and there is good reason for expecting the price to reach at least $1 50 by December. In fact many of the farmers are holding their grain in anticipation of such a rise in values. There are large areas of naturally moist land in the locality mentioned where the most luxuriant crops may be grown year after year with no apparent diminution of yield. Indeed, it is customary on such soil to harvest the grain crop as soon as possible and then put in a crop of corn, thus securing two harvests every year. So rich is this soil that this system of double cropping has been carried on for years without any apparent diminution of yield. But even without this, the single crop of barley, when $1 20 per cental, or even less, is the ruling price, is a very remunerative one.

But it is not alone for the grain that barley is raised there. Barley hay is the most valued feed for horses subjected to hard work, taking precedence over alfalfa or any other product. The market price frequently runs up to $15 and $20 per ton, and even higher, and as from two to four tons to the acre is no uncommon yield, it does not require a mathematical demonstration to show that there is a good margin for profit left on the part of the farmer.

H. P. Kraus, the Nasby of Nevada, now of Reno, and we are glad to know doing well there, was in Carson yesterday in attendance on the picnic. He was a resident of Carson twenty-two years ago, and business man of the Morning Appeal before Sam Davis, now a lusty young man, was out of his swaddling clothes, and while Mr. Mighels was a hired writer on that journal.

"JUSTITIA ET FIDELITAS."

Thirteenth Annual Session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

In accordance with the Constitution, the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, convened yesterday, at the hall of Amity Lodge, No. 8.

Bro. C. C. Powning made the annexed remarks:

SIN KNIGHTS.—By favor of Amity Lodge, speaking for itself and in behalf of the citizens of Reno, I bid you welcome to our Riverside town which, to some extent, illustrates many of the characteristics peculiar to the institution you represent—it is young, but energetic; it is prosperous, and to prosper, its hopes for the future are of the brightest; "Onward and upward" is its motto; and that it is imbued with Friendship, Charity and Benevolence for all, will, it is hoped, be amply exemplified to each and every one of you, during your sojourn. Reno heartily congratulates and compliments you upon the phenomenal growth of the order of Knights of Pythias. It wonders, yet exults, in a band of brothers 154,960 strong, including even the President of this great country, whose aim is to exalt the true principle of Friendship, and to make all men better men and better citizens. It rejoices in that Charity that giveth $300,000 per annum to relieve the wants and necessities of unfortunate members. And for that Benevolence which carries fifty millions of dollars of life insurance, and has paid $2,664,512 to widows and orphans during the past eight years, it has unbounded admiration. Grandly impressed with the magnitude of the glorious work to which you are wedded, it yields to the subtle impulse which impels the enamored thought that the spirits of your prototypes, Damon and Pythias, may constantly hover over and guide you in the good work, until Castle Halls shall rear their lofty heads from every mountain peak, from hill and dale, by the side of every school-house and church, not only in this fair land, but embracing all under the canopy of heaven, and your "grand young Order, acting like an inspiration upon the hearts of men will hasten the coming of the golden age when all men's good be each man's rule and universal peace be like a shaft of light across the land, and like a lane of beams athwart the sea, through all the circle of the golden year."

Grand Chancellor Huffaker responded as follows.

Representatives: As head of the order in this State, I deem it but proper that, on behalf of the Grand Lodge, I express our thanks for the kindly words of welcome just uttered by Supreme Representative Powning, on behalf of the Committee of Amity, No. 8. And I feel assured in saying, though we have assembled to legislate for the good of our order, we will, while here, find ourselves in the midst of friends, accorded a knightly hospitality, characteristic of the generosity of Amity No. 8, and from our sojourn here, will derive both profit and pleasure. I think I may also say, that when we left our different homes, for the city by the river, we each and all anticipated a cordial greeting and pleasant associates, and from the welcome just extended, and now as heartily accepted, I feel assured our expectations will be realized. Again we thank No. 8; for her generous welcome.

The Grand Lodge was called to order by Grand Chancellor, F. M. Huffaker, and on the call of Lodges all responded, except Owyhee, No. 14.

A quorum of Lodges being present and the Grand Master-at-Arms having reported everything in readiness, the Grand Lodge was opened in ritualistic form, with the following Grand Officers present: Jas. Murray, P. G. C.; F. M. Huffaker, G. C.; Nate W. Roff, G. K. of R. and S.; W. W. Rogers, G. P.

The Grand Chancellor appointed M. Curtis G. V. C., H. J. Thyes O. G., H. Carling G. M. & A., A. B. Stoddard G. M. of E., pro tem.

The Grand Chancellor appointed the following committee on Returns and Credentials: G. J. D. King, J. E. Bray and P. H. Mulcahy.

The Committee reported the Representatives' credentials correct, and recommended that they be admitted. The reports of the Grand Officers were received and referred. They show a membership of 834. The sum of $828 15 was expended for relief of brothers during the past year; $532 25 was paid for the burial of brothers; the sum of $2,094 50 was paid as sick benefits; $35 was paid for relief of widows; the current expenses of the Subordinate Lodges amounted to $8,031 45 while the receipts were $11,738 72, with a balance of cash on hand and invested of $14,353 98.

A Terrible Accident.

The Carson Tribune of last evening says:

A few minutes before 1 o'clock this p. m., the boiler attached to the thrasher of McCaffrey, operating at Smith's ranch, opposite the Orphans' Home, blew out at both ends. The engineer, an unknown Carson man hired this morning to take the place of a man who had been discharged for drunkenness, was blown into the air and picked up 200 feet from the engine a lifeless and unrecognizable mass of human flesh. The body was badly burned and the head and face mangled and cut in a horrible manner. Life was entirely extinct when the body was picked up. The men engaged on the thrasher were all thrown violently to the ground, and more or less burned and bruised. Caleb Harrison is badly cut about the body and severely burned. It is feared that he will not survive his injuries. John O'Leary and Thos. Higgins are severely burned.

When the engine exploded they were running 110 pounds of steam. McCaffrey, the manager, thinks that the engine had been lamed by the man he was compelled to discharge for neglect of duty and drunkenness, hence the accident.

John Sherman's Stage Ride.

Since Senator Sherman returned from his Pacific Coast trip the following story has been printed in many Eastern papers:

Senator Sherman enjoyed a break-neck ride down Siskiyou mountain on his stage journey between Delta, Cal. and Ashland, Or. The Ohio statesman had pre-empted a seat with the driver to get a better view of the splendid scenery on that elevated divide. The pace from the summit was a tearing one, and the steep, narrow grade, made the ride appear particularly hazardous. The Senator suggested that he could view things better at a slower gait. "Got to make time," replied the Jehu, brusquely.

"I assure you that I am in no hurry at all," exclaimed John, casting his eyes down the precipitous crooked roadway.

"But I am," retorted the reckless whip, as he let the nags out another notch.

Sherman was scared. He had reason to be. Others had been scared before him, and more are sure to find themselves in the same fix. A second later: "Driver pull up. I just as leave—in fact, I prefer to walk down this place."

"No you don't, Senator. I've got three minutes to reach the valley, and I'm going to make it or break a leg."

The lively six bronco team sped recklessly ahead, Sherman holding on with might and main.

Turning a sharp curve, the swing pole suddenly snapped. For a few moments this looked squally. A single lurch might send the coach over a 300-foot precipice.

"Keep your seat," cried the Jehu, who with brake and reins quickly brought his team to a standstill.

A little later Sherman was holding the lines, his foot braced on the "hold-back," while the driver was down among the cattle, splicing the broken swing bar.

All was in order again presently, and the Senator, reassured as to the entire safety of the twelve mile an hour center down a 45-pitch grade, kept his place to the bottom without a quiver. Thinking it over now, Sherman says it was the most exhilarating stage ride he ever experienced, and he wouldn't mind making the trip overland from California a second time, just to take in that interesting piece of star route expedition down the Siskiyou.

COLONEL FRED GRANT.

Speaks of the Great Demonstration of Saturday—The Future of the Family.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10th.—The World prints the following Colonel Grant, after having ridden to Riverside Park with his relatives yesterday, spoke very sorrowfully about his father's loss, and very proudly about the great tribute which the people had paid his memory. "I consider that greater deference was shown father's memory yesterday than ever has been shown to any other American citizen," he said. "It was, of course, a mournful satisfaction to me. The family fully appreciate the spirit which prompted the great procession. We did not see or hear anything that marred the obsequies. If father was so much to the world, who barely knew him, you can perhaps imagine how much he was to the family. His official career was not his greatest. He had a side to his life which very few can appreciate."

"Was it a matter of satisfaction that the Confederate Generals took part?" "Certainly. Nothing would have so gratified father as to have known that all sectional feeling was forever buried at his grave. He had very great respect for the Southern Generals. Some of them were his most intimate friends. It was our request that they were invited to attend the funeral, and I am very glad that they were present. The demonstrations throughout the South are also very gratifying, for they exhibit a spirit which my father had always hoped for."

"Will the General's book be published at once?"

"I think it will appear before long. We do not yet know exactly what or how much manuscript there is. The last pages father wrote have not been looked over, and there is a large amount of matter now in form for publication. On my return to Mount McGregor I shall devote the next four weeks to looking over the manuscript. I shall make copies of all his papers and preserve the originals. I am not yet sure whether or not there will be enough matter for two volumes, but what there is will be published, with as little revising as possible. The story will be brought down to father's death, and when this has been done whatever there is will be printed."

"Do you think there is any chance of the General's remains ever being removed to Washington?"

"I would rather not talk upon that matter. It is a subject for future debate and action. It was the wish of the family that father should be buried here, or we should not have chosen New York. If at any future time the propriety of removing the remains to Washington is to be considered, there will be time to discuss the subject."

"Do you anticipate any serious results from Mrs. Grant's prostration?"

"My mother is physically strong, and I have no doubt that in time she will regain her usual health. She has been confined unrelentingly for a long time to my father's sick-room. If she had not been very strong, she would have broken down long ago. I think that with a change of surroundings she will recover rapidly. As to the future plans of the family I cannot speak very definitely. We shall go back to Mount McGregor and remain there until fall, when the family must separate. Mrs. Grant will doubtless occupy the house on Sixty-sixth street, but there will be no repairing, no painting nor papering. We have not the means with which to make any repairs."

About 9:30 o'clock Monday morning the Grant family visited the City Hall, and after examining the surroundings of the spot where the General had lain in state, decided that many of the floral tributes that remained in the Governor's room should be sent to the tomb. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grant, U. S. and Jesse Grant and Mrs. Sartoris were in the party.

THE "TIMES" ON THE FUNERAL.

It Pronounces the Funeral One That Has Never Been Equalled.

All the London morning newspapers published Sunday give copious accounts of the funeral of General Grant. All agree that the outpouring of the people on the occasion, and their deep grief, indicated by dispatches, were something wonderful.

The Times has a special dispatch, three columns long, detailing scenes and incidents of the funeral, and also prints a leading editorial, praising and recalling many personal traits of the dead General. It expresses unbounded admiration for the conduct of the American people concerning the burial of General Grant, and pronounces the funeral "a spontaneous outburst of national admiration and gratitude, which, although it can do nothing for its actual object, is not, therefore, the less to be commended." In conclusion the Times says: "No other nation and no former period or cause have afforded the materials for such a procession as that of Saturday, or even the physical conditions which enable the members to come together."

A Curious Petrification.

A curious formation was found among the pines of Central Wisconsin, near Knowlton, a few weeks ago. It was in the form of a petrified squirrel and about the size of a common squirrel, and was taken from the heart of a tree by some woodmen. It was of a brownish color, as hard as a rock, and "as natural as life," even to the kink in its long bushy tail. The curiosity was carefully packed and sent by William Mulhollen, its owner, to President Cleveland, from whom a personal letter of thanks has been received by the sender, saying that it would be carefully preserved and placed in the public museum at Washington.

The White House Closed.

The White House is now closed to visitors and will not reopen until the President's return in September. In the meantime the building will be overhauled and made clean and comfortable. Considerable repairing will have to be done, and several improvements in the internal arrangements will be made; the clerical force will remain on duty during the summer. Assistant Private Secretary Pruden is in charge. The President will always be within telegraphic communication with the White House, and he will in that way attend to all matters requiring action on his part.

Millions to be Counted For.

A serious misunderstanding is reported to exist between the outgoing and incoming administration of the Sub-Treasury in San Francisco regarding the count of coin in the vaults. Mr. Brooks, the new appointed Sub-Treasurer, is willing to accept the count by weight, but Mr. Spaulding, the present incumbent, insists on every piece being counted before the transfer is made. There is $93,000,000 in the vaults. To count it all over would take from six to eight months. A decision on the subject from Washington is looked for.

The San Francisco Bulletin says Vice President Hendricks is a Director in the Hecla Consolidated mine at Glendale, M. T. Four years ago last April, the mine was heavily in debt, and negotiations were in progress to sell the property to some Frenchmen for $900,000. This having failed, the stockholders elected new Directors, who appointed A. Knippenberg, of Indianapolis, as Manager, with full power. Since then the company has paid 48 dividends of $15,000 each, making $720,000, and has a cash surplus of $100,000 on hand. Eight of these $15,000 dividends have been paid this year, and the Manager has recently requested the Directors to pay a special or extra dividend of $15,000 on the 15th inst. The Vice President's luck has evidently turned.

The Committee on Monument to General Grant, in New York, ask for $1,000,000 to successfully carry out the object in view.

MEANING OF THE NAME GRANT.

An Extract from the Book Written by Ex-President Arthur's Father.

(New York Sun)

In the book on family names by the late Rev. William Arthur, the father of ex-President Arthur, the meaning of the name Grant is explained. The book is entitled "An Etymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Surnames."

"Of this name, he remarks that it may be derived from the Saxon, Irish or French. In the Saxon, Grant signifies crooked or bowed. Thus Cambridge, the town and university of England, so called, signifies a crooked bridge, or rather a bridge upon the Cam river, or the crooked or winding river. The Saxons called this town Grant Bridge. Cam in the British and Grant in the Saxon being of the same significance—crooked."

"So Mons Gramphius, the Grampton Hill, was called by the Saxons 'Graaz Ben' or 'the crooked hill,' but we cannot see how, from this Saxon word, the surname should be borrowed."

"In the old Irish, grand has signifies ugly, brave, valorous, and from thence many are inclined to think that the surname Grant is taken from grand, which in the Irish is sounded short, and thereby the letter d at the end of the word is changed into t, and thus grand into grant. The surname, it seems, was thus pronounced in England about 500 years ago, for Richard Grant was made Archbishop of Canterbury in the year 1229, and is, in Mr. Anderson's genealogical tables, as well as by others, called Richard Grant. But the English historians of that time, writing in Latin, call him Richard Magnus, which plainly shows that they took Grant to be the same with the French Grand and the Latin Magnus, to which let us add that in the old writs the article 'the' is put before the surname 'Grand.'"

ANCIENT IRRIGATION.

How the Old Padres Tried It at San Diego Mission.

H. H. Bancroft, historian of the Pacific States, in his second volume on California, recently issued, makes this interesting reference to an attempt at irrigation by the padres at the San Diego Mission:

"The first year of the decade the rains were late and there was great want of grain at the mission, as also in 1809; though statistical tables show the crops of 1809 to have been much smaller than in either of those years. I suppose it may have been these drouths that impelled the friars to construct an extensive system of irrigating works, and that the works, the remains of which are yet to be seen, were probably completed during this decade, though there are no definite records on the subject, and though I suspect the ditch was never practically a great success. Some three miles above the mission the river was dammed by a solid stone wall, thirteen feet in thickness, and coated with a cement that became as hard as rock. In the center was a gateway twelve feet wide, lined with brick. The dam was standing in 1874, though the water had washed out a channel at one end, and the sand left but a few feet of the height of the structure visible. From this dam an aqueduct of tiles was built down the stream through a precipitous gorge, impossible on horseback, to the mission lands. The aqueduct was deep, and so strong that in places it supported itself after the foundation was removed."

Death of Judge James Garland.

James Garland, probably the oldest judge in the world and believed to be the oldest member of the masonic fraternity in the United States, died at his home in Lynchburg Va., last Friday night, in the 95th year of his age. He served as volunteer in the war of 1812 and was twice elected to Congress. During Jackson's administration he was a warm friend of the President and made a notable speech in defence of the latter in the House of Representatives for which Jackson thanked him, both in person and by letter.

Complimentary to Henley.

A reception was tendered Congressman Barclay Henley at the Grand Opera House San Francisco Monday evening. The building was packed to overflowing, many being unable to gain admittance. Delegates from every county were present, and the forty-seven Democratic Clubs were represented. The reception speech was made by Hon. D. M. Delmas, to which Mr. Henley eloquently responded.

The Rhode Island Legislature will consider a proposition in favor of biennial elections and sessions.

COMPLEXION OF THE SENATE.

The San Francisco Chronicle speculates as subjoined:

If the Governor of Oregon appoints a Republican to succeed Slater, as he is likely to do, and if the Senate admits the appointee, which is not quite so certain, in view of the Oregon precedent established in the case of Delazon Smith, the United States Senate, in the Forty-ninth Congress, will consist of forty-two Republicans and thirty-four Democrats, the former having a majority of eight. Before the Fiftieth Congress meets, vacancies in the Senatorial representation of the following States will have occurred: Delaware, Florida, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia, California, Connecticut, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin. At the present time these States send nine Democratic Senators and sixteen Republicans. Of the nine Democratic Senators, all are likely to be succeeded by men of their own faith, excepting Fair, of Nevada, who may be superseded by a Republican, as the present Legislature is largely of that complexion and there seems no prospect of a change. Of the sixteen Republican Senators the succession of five is in doubt. It is likely that Virginia and Indiana will elect Democrats to succeed Mahone and Harrison. And it is possible that Democrats may be elected in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. Should Nevada send a Republican in the place of Fair, and the five States we have named choose Democrats in the place of the present Republican incumbents, the Senate would be a tie, and the casting vote of the Vice President would give the Democrats control on party measures.

The Eastern papers are a good deal mixed. Some Democratic papers seem to expect Democratic victories in Ohio and Wisconsin. We see nothing in the course of events in those States to warrant any such expectation. It seems certain that the Democrats in Ohio are going to run Hoadly again; and if so, they are pretty sure to be badly beaten. Nor is there any substantial ground for believing that Wisconsin is going to flip over to the Democratic ranks. Colonel Vilas' State strength is not large. It is quite likely that Indiana may elect a Democratic Legislature, but if Evarts goes into the fight in New York, the odds will be in favor of Republican success, and the contagion would probably control the election in New Jersey. If the Republicans save New York and New Jersey and lose Virginia, Indiana and Connecticut, besides gaining Nevada, they would still during the Fiftieth Congress retain control of the Senate for all practical purposes, and no measures could be enacted in opposition to the doctrines of the party.

The World has successfully completed the task of raising $100,000 for the Bartholdi statue pedestal. The Washington cent was sold to Helen Danvray for $130. The total amount collected was $102,006 39, which was contributed by over 120,000 persons.

There is a demand for more stringent temperance legislation in Maine.

Amity Lodge Agate to the Front.

Armory Hall was crowded last evening with the Knights and ladies of Reno, and all sections of the State being represented. The hall was very tastefully decorated with pictures and mirrors. The west end being covered with six-foot pictures of our three greatest men - Washington, Lincoln and Grant, while the north side was covered with mammoth oil paintings, the handiwork of Knight Laycock. The floor The music by Hall & Zimmer's full orchestra was the finest that has ever been heard in Reno, being the very latest, and beautifully arranged. At about 12 o'clock the dancers adjourned to the Palace Restaurant, where Knight Lemery had set a banquet fit for the "Gods." The dancers were reluctant to leave the scene of so pleasant an evening's enjoyment, and not until the medley was played would they disperse. Amity's visitors, as usual, admitting that she knew how to treat her friends royally.

Sir Knights.

Among those not already reported, the JOURNAL notices the following Knights in attendance upon the Grand Lodge, K. of P.: Charlie Brown, C. C. Bowman, P. Guggins, Andy Peterson, James Ridge, R. ### Real Estate Agency.

W. M. Leete and C. H. Stoddard have established a real estate agency in the Odd Fellows' building, corner of Virginia and Second streets. Real and personal property bought, sold, rented and carefully looked after, and deeds, leases, mortgages and contracts promptly and carefully drawn up.

Returned.

Governor Adams has returned from visiting his thousand hills full of cattle in the eastern part of the State. He looks brown and jolly and says he feels first-rate. The reason he did not declare last Saturday a legal holiday, as did the Governor of California, was because there was no State law allowing him to do so.

A Successful Hunter.

The Silver State says Oinnabar Jim, a noted Puute hunter, has just returned from a hunt near Summit Lake, in the northwestern part of Humboldt county. He killed seventy deer during the hunt, and brought back their skins and several sacks of dried venison.

A Good Ordinance.

The Commissioners have passed an ordinance compelling all boys and girls under the age of 16 years, to be off the streets by 8 o'clock in the evening.

"JUSTITIA ET FIDELITAS."

Thirteenth Annual Session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

The morning session of the Grand Lodge was occupied in the transaction of regular business.

It was decided that Memorial services should be held on the last Sunday of May in each year.

The Grand Lodge proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year with the following result: Supreme Representative, Geo. H. Morrison; Grand Chancellor, J. A. Conboise; Grand Vice Chancellor, W. H. M. Cobb; Grand Prelate, M. C. McMullan; Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, Nate W. Roff; Grand Master of Exchequer, H. M. Monk; Trustees, James Murray, J. E. Bray and J. M. Dormer.

The afternoon session was taken up in the matter for the good of the Order. Reno was selected as the place, and the second Thursday in June, as the time for the meeting of the next Grand Lodge.

A motion to increase the capitation tax was defeated.

At 3 o'clock P. M., C. C. Powning installed the newly elected officers, including W. E. Taylor, who had been appointed Grand Master-at-Arms.

A resolution of thanks to Grand Vice Chancellor Meyers was unanimously adopted.

Having finished its business at 5:15, the Grand Lodge adjourned sine die.

Uncle Johnny Grier Dead.

John W. Grier, one of the oldest and best-known residents of Silver City and Lyon county, died at his residence in that place Monday. He was formerly Postmaster there, and has always been a prominent, well-known citizen, engaging in mining and other operations and anything for the general welfare of the community, formerly taking a lively hand in loyal American politics, being a dear lover of his country, and about as square, honest and straight-forward a man as is generally met with. Deceased was a native Guernsey county, Ohio, aged sixty-eight years, and came to the Pacific Coast among the pioneers. He leaves a wife and married daughters, with whom a large circle of friends sincerely sympathize in their sad bereavement.

Another Little One Gone.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fulton have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their great bereavement occasioned by the death of their bright little two-year-old son Chester, but only those who have tasted of the cup to its deepest dregs can faithfully imagine the awful pain in the innermost recesses of their hearts, and the loss of a part of their lives forever. Time will, we hope, partially heal the wound, and in the years to come there will be an oasis because of the precious memories connected with the lovely cherub angel in the skies.

Meteorological.

The Carson Free Lance says: One day last week we paid a visit to, and, through the courtesy of Prof. Charles W. Friend, were shown many interesting things of science in his observatory. We venture to say there is not a place in Carson or vicinity, where a man of ordinary intelligence can spend an hour so pleasantly and profitably as in Friend's observatory. The anemometer, barometer, thermometer, gauge for measuring the water fall, microscope, his collection of scientific books, each holds a valuable fund of information. Commencing with next week our readers may expect a series of articles on his daily observations in science from the pen of Professor Friend, a man who is now doing for

A SMASH-UP ON THE HILL.

Several Railroad Men and an Indian Injured.

Monday morning about 11 o'clock, four miles east of the Summit, freight train No. 7 ran into a large boulder which had become detached from the embankment and was lying on the track. The engine and four cars were thrown from the track. Engineer Henry Kern was seriously injured about the shoulders. The fireman, Al Willard, was slightly hurt. Brakeman Schwallenberg was bruised about the back and left side, and the other two brakemen, McMasters and Willingham, also sustained slight injuries. An Indian who was riding on the cars was very badly hurt.

THE NEW JUDICIARY LAW PROBABLY UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Tuscarora Times-Review says: As is doubtless known to most of our readers, the last Legislature made a complete and most radical change in our Judiciary system, so far as the District Courts are concerned. Instead of electing the Judges by Districts as has heretofore been the custom, the new statute consolidates all of the counties into one District, and provides for the election of three Judges, who are to be voted for by the people of the entire State, the same as Supreme Judges, Governor and other State officers. The three Judges elect one of their number Presiding Judge, who has the power of directing his two colleagues where to hold Court in the different counties "as the public business may require." The ostensible object in enacting the statute was economy, as it was urged that three Judges could attend to all of the District Court business in the State, and that great saving would be effected in the matter of salaries. In our opinion the Act was an unjudicious one and against public policy; for we believe that the saving of a few thousand dollars in that direction would be more than offset by increased court facilities, loss of time and increased expenses to litigants. We opposed the passage of the law at the time it was under discussion in the Legislature, and are fully convinced, if it should ever be put into operation, that in two years thereafter the correctness of our views will be indorsed by an almost unanimous demand for the repeal of the Act. It is doubtful, however, whether the new system will be adopted. There appears to be an irreconcilable conflict between that portion of Section 9 of the law which empowers the Presiding Judge to determine when and where the District Courts shall be held, and the first portion of Section 7, Article VI of the State Constitution. The latter says: "The Act most plainly gives that power to the Presiding Judge and it is the opinion of many leading lawyers that the clause is fatal to the Act, for if that part is declared unconstitutional the operation of the entire law is prevented. The matter will probably be tested by mandamus the Governor when he issues a proclamation for the election of the Judges under the new Statute. We most sincerely hope that the law will be killed by a decision of the Supreme Court rather than by a repealing Act of the Legislature two years after it goes into operation."

The Treasury Department

It is said at the Treasury Department that there will be no changes of any consequence in that Department during Secretary Manning's absence. He is reported to have left instructions in regard to filling certain vacancies, including one or two Chiefs of Divisions, and making a few minor appointments, but nothing beyond that. The report that Supervising Architect Bell is to be superseded in a few days is contradicted on good authority. Candidates for his place have all gone home; some disappointed.
